THIS AND TAX
REDUCTION URGED
ON THE CONGRESS

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE SO DECLARES IN ANNUAL MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

RIGID ECONOMY WILL ELIMINATE MANY ECONOMIC ILLS

(By United Press)

Washington, Dec. 3.—High lights in President Coolidge's annual message were:

"The nation holds a position unsurpassed in all former human experience."

"If we will but apply ourselves industriously and honestly, we have ample power with which to meet our problems and provide for their speedy solution."

"Perhaps the most important work that this session of Congress can do is to continue a policy of economy and further reduce the cost of government, in order that we may have reduction of taxes for the next fiscal year."

"Anybody can reduce taxes, but it is not so easy to stand in the gap and resist the passage of a large appropriations bill which would make tax reduction impossible."

"At no period in the last 12 years have our foreign relations been in such satisfactory condition as they are at the present time."

"Everyone knows that the great need of the farmer is markets. The difficulty is not so much on the side of production but almost entirely on the side of distribution."

"Consolidation of railroads will assure not only a greater competition as to service, but it will affect economy of operation, greater stability in railroad earnings, and more economical financing."

"Any nation undertaking to maintain a military establishment with aggressive and imperialistic designs will find itself severely handicapped in the economic development of the world."

"I believe in a greater army and navy and in adequate defense and preparation, but I am opposed to any sort of competition in building and maintaining of land or sea armaments."

"The situation in our country and all over the world is one that can be accomplished by hard work and self-denial."

"Whatever its difficulties, the merit system is certain to be preferred to the spoils system."

"Our country wants no pretenses and wants no vagaries. It is determined to advance in orderly, sound and common sense way. It does not propose to abandon the theory of that declaration that the people have inalienable rights which no majority and no power of government can destroy. It is convinced it will be impossible for the people to provide their own government until they continue to own their own property."

"I want people all over the earth to see in the American flag the symbol of a government which maintains no oppression at home and no aggression abroad, which, in a spirit of common brotherhood, provides assistance in time of distress."

Washington, Dec. 3.—Congress' most important duty is to reduce the cost of government and provide for further tax reduction, President Coolidge declared in his annual message to the national legislature today.

"The government can do more to eliminate the economic ills of the people by a system of rigid economy in public office than can be accomplished in any other way," he said.

"Nothing is more likely to produce that public confidence which is the forerunner and mainstay of prosperity, encouraging and enlarging business, giving ample opportunity for employment at good wages, providing a larger market for agricultural products and putting our country in a stronger position to meet world competition in trade than a continuing policy of economy."

Rigid economy by the present session of Congress will pave the way during the next fiscal year for reduction of taxes in conformity with scientific tax principles, Mr. Coolidge said.

The message, written in the terse, direct style for which Mr. Coolidge is noted, bluntly sets forth the president's views on virtually every question confronting the country and the administration.

In crisp, clear sentences Mr. Coolidge said:

The publicity provision of the tax law should be repealed.

The senate should approve the Harding-Hughes world court proposal.

The administration will not call a disarmament conference until it is seen what action other countries take on the League of Nations conference proposal.

Agriculture's chief problem is to find better markets and the government will help.

Voluntary consolidation of railroads should be encouraged, to be followed if necessary by government control.

Muscle Shoals should be sold or leased to private operators who will produce cheap fertilizer.

Management of the government's merchant fleet should be entirely centered in the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

Our foreign relations are now in better shape than at any time in twelve years.

Cancellation or remission of any part of foreign debts will not be considered.

A national reclamation board should be immediately named for enactment of the recommendations of the Federal Fact-Finding commission.

The case of veterans has passed from a question of legislation to one of humane legislation.

Supreme court and criminal law procedure should be altered to relieve congestion and promote justice.

First, second and third-class postmasters and prohibition agents should be put under Civil Service.

The navy must be maintained at full treaty strength and defense plans supported.

The League of Nations is dead, so far as the United States is concerned.

Mr. Coolidge opened his message with the declaration that "The Union holds a position unsurpassed in all former human experience," and declared that "the present state of the nation is such that it may be regarded with encouragement and satisfaction by every American." Then he enumerated his recommendations, taking up first economy.

Our Domestic ILLS

"Our domestic ills are the most part economic," he said. "We have an enormous debt to pay, and we are paying it. We have a high cost of government to diminish, and we are diminishing it. We have a heavy burden of taxation to reduce, and we are reducing it. But there remains the national debt of $21,000,000,000 and the annual government expenses of $3,500,000,000. With these existing, there is an enormous field for application of economy."

The national government is making efforts to reduce expenditures and it is "an ominous fact" that state and municipal governments are not following. They are increasing our debt by $1,000,000,000 a year. Reduction of the cost of public administration everywhere will re-establish prosperity.

Last Revenue Bill

The country is feeling the direct stimulus which came from the passage of the last revenue bill, and under the assurance of a reasonable system of taxation there is every possibility of an era of prosperity of unprecedented proportions.

Lima, Peru, Dec. 3.—Crushing of an abortive revolutionary effort in which 130 rebels were killed and their leaders captured and executed, was made known today by the government.

The movement was designed to embarrass President Leguia at the time of the important celebration of the anniversary of the battle of Ayacucho.

The abortive uprising occurred in the remote mountain district of Chota province, according to the official communique. The nucleus of revolutionary leaders included Arturo Osorio, Manuel Alcasar and Lieut. Barreda, entered Peru from the Ecuadorian frontier, penetrating to the town of Chota, north of Cayamarca, and gathered 300 or 400 men from the outlaw element in that notorious district.

The government immediately concentrated troops on the district, federal forces attacking Chota Nov. 29. The rebels lost 130 killed and many prisoners, only a few insurgents escaping. Alcasar and Barreda were captured, court martialed and shot. Capture of Osorio is expected shortly.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 3.—Two suspects were held by police today as they sought to solve the slaying of Police Officer Herbert Dreger near Madison's "death corner" in the Italian district last night.

One of the prisoners, Frank Vitale, attempted to pull a gun on officers arresting him but he was subdued by a blow on the jaw. The other suspect is Sam Bimartino.

Both Vitale and Bimartino were armed when arrested, police say.

Dreger's murder followed the shooting of Elmer Thomas, crippled elevator operator, shortly before midnight, near the same spot. Thomas was only slightly hurt.

An anonymous telephone message gave police the information that Dreger was lying in the street on the West side.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 3.—Discovery of half of a shotgun today near the scene of the murder of Policeman Herbert Dreger, convinced authorities that they were a step nearer the solution of the slaying.

The other half of the shotgun was found on Sam Dimartino when he was arrested early this morning, police said.

Police claim the two halves match perfectly.

Dimartino is one of the six Italians held for investigation. Dreger was slain in the Italian district about midnight. Dimartino was arrested three weeks ago by Dreger on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated and was convicted and sentenced.

MUSCLE SHOALS

SEEKS TO DETERMINE WHO IS TO OPERATE $150,000,000 PROJECT

EMBRACES HUGE NITRATE AND POWER PLANT IN SOUTH

(By United Press)

Washington, Dec. 3.—After four years of fruitless endeavor, the senate today set out to determine finally who is to operate the big $150,000,000 Muscle Shoals nitrate and power project and how.

A coalition of the southern group and midwestern republicans has formed to force through some bill as rapidly as possible that cheaper fertilizer may be furnished farmers soon after completion of the project in July.

Encouraged to this end by President Coolidge himself, senate leaders put the subject ahead for consideration. President Coolidge's annual message to congress was ready for delivery immediately after the two chambers were called to order today. Abandoning the custom of reading his message in person, Mr. Coolidge dispatched the text of his address by messenger for delivery in the senate house by reading clerks.

Senators Underwood of Alabama, and Norris of Nebraska, while diverging widely on how the government should operate the big nitrate plant, have joined hands as leaders in the two groups to fight for immediate consideration.

The Norris government operating bill, reported last May, is under unanimous consent agreement which calls for "consideration until its final disposition."

REDUCE TAXES,
SAYS MESSAGE OF PRESIDENT

BUDGET SHOWS EXPENSES OF GOVERNMENT CUT AGAIN

REVENUES GAIN IN EXCESS OF EXPENDITURES, HE STATES

By DALE VAN EVERY,

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Dec. 3.—President Coolidge, in his annual budget message, laid before Congress forecast a $373,743,714 treasury surplus at the end of the next fiscal year and urged a program of drastic governmental economy to permit another cut in federal taxes.

"I am for economy," the president declared. "If we continue the campaign for economy, we will pave the way for further reduction in taxes."

Mr. Coolidge, however, proposed that consideration of further tax reduction legislation be deferred until the effect of the present revenue law has become more apparent.

The budget of governmental expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, transmitted by the president, totaled $3,267,551,378, a decrease of $266,532,430 below estimates for the current fiscal year. Receipts were estimated at $3,641,295,092, an increase of $39,326,795, which, with the $67,884,489 surplus estimated at the end of the current fiscal year, would bring the unusually large surplus foreseen by Mr. Coolidge 19 months hence.

Further Tax Reduction

"For those things which we are now required to do we are fast reducing our expenditures to a minimum consistent with efficient service," said the president. "We have before us an estimated surplus of $67,000,000 for the current fiscal year and $373,000,000 for the next fiscal year."

"Shall we embark upon new projects involving expenditures which will prevent the accumulation of these expected surpluses, or shall we continue the campaign for economy? I am for economy."

"If we continue the campaign for economy we will pave the way for further reduction in taxes. This reduction cannot be effected immediately. Before it is undertaken we should know more definitely by actual operation what our revenues will be under our present tax law. But the knowledge of our revenue under the existing law will avail us nothing if we embark upon any new large expenditure program."

Mr. Coolidge pointed out that the actual treasury surplus at the end of the last fiscal year was $175,727,000 higher than treasury officials had estimated and he advanced the hope that future surpluses might exceed even the estimates he was presenting to congress.

"The confidence of the chief executive and the congress that our revenues could be safely reduced has been fully justified," said the president. "The fiscal year which ended June 30, 1924, was closed with a surplus of receipts over expenditures of $505,366,000."

Surplus This Year

"We have now completed five months of the current fiscal year which ends June 30, 1925. This affords an index of the probable reduction in our revenues under the current tax law. It also affords an index of the limits within which our expenditures can be kept under the continuing policy of economy. A revision of the estimate of receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925, indicates today that the receipts will be $3,601,968,297 and the expenditures $3,534,083,808."

"This forecasts a surplus of receipts over expenditures for the current fiscal year of $67,884,489. This estimate is most significant. On the one hand, we anticipate receiving this year $40,000,000 less revenue than we had last year, due principally to the reduction in taxes. On the

FORD WILL NOT
RENEW HIS OFFER
FOR MUSCLE SHOALS

(By United Press)

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 3.—Henry Ford will not renew his offer for Muscle Shoals as requested in a telegram sent him by Senators Hedlin of Alabama and McKellar, Tennessee, the United Press learned from an authoritative source here today.

Ford has made his offer. It was refused, and he withdrew it—now let the senate come to him with their proposition, was the explanation given by those close to Ford, for his refusal.

Floods of telegrams were arriving here today, beseeching the automobile millionaire to make the senate a new offer for the Muscle Shoals project.

FINAL ACTION MAY SOON BE TAKEN

Washington, Dec. 3.—Administration plans to send pending Muscle Shoals bills back to the senate agriculture committee for further consideration were abandoned today, forecasting final disposition of the project at this session. Senator Curtis, Republican leader, announced when the senate convened today no effort would be made to sidetrack the proposition, as was originally planned.

other hand, we must provide $114,000,000 for the extraordinary increase in expenditures made necessary by the World War adjusted compensation act. Yet we are confident that the year will be closed with a surplus of more than $67,000,000. Our aim should be not only to conserve this prospective surplus but to add to it."

Decreased Expenditure

The $266,532,430 decrease in the 1926 budget under the 1925 budget was made up of decreased expenditures in many governmental activities which were in part counterbalanced by increases in others.

Among major governmental agencies for which decreased expenditures were recommended were: shipping board, emergency fleet corporation, the veterans bureau, interest on the public debt, and the departments of commerce, interior, labor, navy, state, treasury and war.

Among other agencies for which increased expenditures were reported were: government printing, federal board for vocational education, federal power commission, interstate commerce commission, tariff commission, the District of Columbia, and the departments of agriculture, justice and the post office.

The budget estimates for national defense including funds necessary for the military activities of the war and navy departments, were a decrease of $29,000,000.

"This reduction is made in accordance with my belief that we can have adequate national defense with a more modest outlay of the taxpayers' money," Mr. Coolidge said.

Further study may point the way to additional reduction without weakening our national defense, but rather perfecting it. This nation is at peace with the world. We no longer have international competition in naval construction of major units. We are concerned primarily with maintaining adequate preparedness in 1926 within the limits of the amount recommended."

The president indicated again his growing conviction that the basis for this country's defense lies more and more with aviation. He pointed out that the "outstanding weakness in the industrial situation as it affects national defense is the inadequacy of facilities to supply air service needs." He called attention to the fact the budget provided a total of $38,945,000 for the air service maintained by the army, navy and air mail.

Muscle Shoals

The budget recommended $56,237,600 for rivers and harbors. Major items mentioned by the president included $10,000,000 for flood control on the Mississippi and Sacramento

PROPERTY IN
GREAT INCREASE

OVER FIVE BILLION WORTH SUBJECT THIS YEAR TO AD VALOREM TAX

REPRESENTS AN INCREASE OF FOURTEEN MILLION OVER 1922 FIGURES

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Dec. 3.—The value of all property in Minnesota subject to an ad valorem tax this year is $5,793,334,776.

This is an increase of $14,240,660 over the value of 1922, the last year that real estate was assessed, with a total value of $5,779,094,116.

The Minnesota Tax Commission today made public these figures along with figures on individual classes of property as it completed its work on equalizing the figures submitted by county tax officials.

The high increase is comparatively small, the Commission says. It shows that the state is growing in taxable real estate but that there is a material decrease in the value of rural lands and agricultural products.

The figures of the commission for individual items are given of the assessed value of properties as assessed values are as follows: Iron ore, 50 per cent of full value; on personal property 25 per cent of full value, rural lands and improvements and some kinds of machinery, 33 1-3 per cent; agricultural products in the hands of the producer, 10 per cent; all city personal property not included, 40 per cent.

The assessed value of all real property exclusive of iron ore in 1924 was placed at $1,428,225,217, while in 1922 the value was $2,425,689,725.

Real property for agricultural purposes is assessed at $786,329,592, a reduction of $46,850,466 from the assessed value in 1922 when the amount was $833,180,058.

This assessed value reduction represents a direct value reduction of $140,455,396, the commission points out.

City real estate shows a gain over the two-year period from $592,509,663 in 1922 to $641,895,825, an increase of $49,385,959 in assessed value. This increase in the assessed value of city property more than makes up for the decrease in farm property, the commission points out.

The full value of all personal property in the state in 1924 is placed at $860,354,846 and the assessed value at $275,667,053, while in 1923 the corresponding figures were $861,740,425 and $289,916,849. These figures do not include the assessed value of the property of telegraph companies, which was $789,730 in 1924 and $719,049 in 1923.

The $14,249,776 increase in assessed value compared to the $1,415,577 direct value decrease was due, the commission says, to the creation by the last legislature of a special tax division in which iron ore is not classed as personal property.

The assessments of wholesale merchants are slightly higher in the aggregate. In 1923 wholesalers were assessed $18,974,896 and in 1924 $20,183,952. Retailers' goods were assessed at $29,275,938 and in 1923 at $29,170,654.

Horses, cattle and hogs on farms showed reductions in number and value over those assessed in 1923, while sheep showed increase in both number and value.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Dec. 3.—President Coolidge, in his annual budget message, laid before Congress forecast a $373,743,714 treasury surplus at the end of the next fiscal year and urged a program of drastic governmental economy to permit another cut in federal taxes.

"I am for economy," the president declared. "If we continue the campaign for economy, we will pave the way for further reduction in taxes."

Mr. Coolidge, however, proposed that consideration of further tax reduction legislation be deferred until the effect of the present revenue law has become more apparent.

The budget of governmental expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, transmitted by the president, totaled $3,267,551,378, a decrease of $266,532,430 below estimates for the current fiscal year. Receipts were estimated at $3,641,295,092, an increase of $39,326,795, which, with the $67,884,489 surplus estimated at the end of the current fiscal year, would bring the unusually large surplus forecast by Mr. Coolidge 19 months hence.

Further Tax Reduction

"For those things which we are now required to do we are fast reducing our expenditures to a minimum consistent with efficient service," said the president. "We have before us an estimated surplus of $67,000,000 for the current fiscal year and $373,000,000 for the next fiscal year."

"Shall we embark upon new projects involving expenditures which will prevent the accumulation of these expected surpluses, or shall we continue the campaign for economy? I am for economy."

"If we continue the campaign for economy we will pave the way for further reduction in taxes. This reduction cannot be effected immediately. Before it is undertaken we should know more definitely by actual operation what our revenues will be under our present tax law. But the knowledge of our revenue under the existing law will avail us nothing if we embark upon any new large expenditure program."

Mr. Coolidge pointed out that the actual treasury surplus at the end of the last fiscal year was $175,727,000 higher than treasury officials had estimated and he advanced the hope that future surpluses might exceed even the estimates he was presenting to congress.

"The confidence of the chief executive and the congress that our revenues could be safely reduced has been fully justified," said the president. "The fiscal year which ended June 30, 1924, was closed with a surplus of receipts over expenditures of $505,366,000."

Surplus This Year

"We have now completed five months of the current fiscal year which ends June 30, 1925. This affords an index of the probable reduction in our revenues under the current tax law. It also affords an index of the limits within which our expenditures can be kept under the continuing policy of economy. A revision of the estimate of receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925, indicates today that the receipts will be $3,601,968,297 and the expenditures $3,534,983,808."

"This forecasts a surplus of receipts over expenditures for the current fiscal year of $67,884,489. This estimate is most significant. On the one hand, we anticipate receiving this year $40,000,000 less revenue than we had last year, due principally to the reduction in taxes. On the

RENEW HIS OFFER
FOR MUSCLE SHOALS

(By United Press)
Detroit, Mich., Dec. 3.—Henry Ford will not renew his offer for Muscle Shoals as requested in a telegram sent him by Senators Healin of Alabama and McKellar, Tennessee, the United Press learned from an authoritative source here today.

Ford has made his offer. It was refused, and he withdrew it—now let the senate come to him with their proposition, was the explanation given by those close to Ford, for his refusal.

Floods of telegrams were arriving here today, beseeching the automobile millionaire to make the senate a new offer for the Muscle Shoals project.

FINAL ACTION MAY SOON BE TAKEN

Washington, Dec. 3.—Administration plans to send pending Muscle Shoals bills back to the senate agriculture committee for further consideration were abandoned today, forecasting final disposition of the project at this session. Senator Curtis, Republican leader, announced when the senate convened today no effort would be made to sidetrack the proposition, as was originally planned.

other hand, we must provide $114,000,000 for the extraordinary increase in expenditures made necessary by the World War adjusted compensation act. Yet we are confident that the year will be closed with a surplus of more than $67,000,000. Our aim should be not only to conserve this prospective surplus but to add to it."

Decreased Expenditure

The $266,532,430 decrease in the 1926 budget under the 1925 budget was made up of decreased expenditures in many governmental activities which were in part counterbalanced by increases in others.

Among major governmental agencies for which decreased expenditures were recommended were: shipping board, emergency fleet corporation, the veterans bureau, interest on the public debt, and the departments of commerce, interior, labor, navy, state, treasury and war.

Among other agencies for which increased expenditures were reported were: government printing, federal board for vocational education, federal power commission, interstate commerce commission, tariff commission, the District of Columbia, and the departments of agriculture, justice and the post office.

The budget estimates for national defense including funds necessary for the military activities of the war and navy departments, were a decrease of $29,000,000.

"This reduction is made in accordance with my belief that we can have adequate national defense with a more modest outlay of the taxpayers' money," Mr. Coolidge said. "Further study may point the way to additional reduction without weakening our national defense, but rather perfecting it. This nation is at peace with the world. We no longer have international competition in naval construction of major units. We are concerned primarily with maintaining adequate preparedness in 1926 within the limits of the amount recommended."

The president indicated again his growing conviction that the basis for this country's defense lies more and more with aviation. He pointed out that the "outstanding weakness in the industrial situation as it affects national defense is the inadequacy of facilities to supply air service needs." He called attention to the fact the budget provided a total of $38,945,000 for the air service maintained by the army, navy and air mail.

Muscle Shoals

The budget recommended $56,237,600 for rivers and harbors. Major items mentioned by the president included $10,000,000 for flood control on the Mississippi and Sacramento

MINNESOTA
GREAT INCREASE

OVER FIVE BILLION WORTH SUBJECT THIS YEAR TO AD VALOREM TAX

REPRESENTS AN INCREASE OF FOURTEEN MILLION OVER 1922 FIGURES

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Dec. 3.—The value of all property in Minnesota subject to an ad valorem tax this year is $5,793,334,776.

This is an increase of $14,240,660 over the value of 1922, the last year that real estate was assessed, with a total value of $5,779,094,116.

The Minnesota Tax Commission today made public these figures along with figures on individual classes of property as it completed its work on equalizing the figures submitted by county tax officials.

The high increase is comparatively small, the Commission says. It shows that the state is growing in taxable real estate but that there is a material decrease in the value of rural lands and agricultural products.

The figures of the commission for individual items are given of the assessed value of properties as assessed values are as follows: Iron ore, 50 per cent of full value; on personal property 25 per cent of full value, rural lands and improvements and some kinds of machinery, 33 1-3 per cent; agricultural products in the hands of the producer, 10 per cent; all city personal property not included, 40 per cent.

The assessed value of all real property exclusive of iron ore in 1924 was placed at $1,428,225,217, while in 1922 the value was $2,425,889,725.

Real property for agricultural purposes is assessed at $786,329,592, a reduction of $46,850,466 from the assessed value in 1922 when the amount was $833,180,058.

This assessed value reduction represents a direct value reduction of $140,455,396, the commission points out.

City real estate shows a gain over the two-year period from $592,509,663 in 1922 to $641,895,825, an increase of $49,385,959 in assessed value. This increase in the assessed value of city property more than makes up for the decrease in farm property, the commission points out.

The full value of all personal property in the state in 1924 is placed at $860,354,846 and the assessed value at $275,667,053, while in 1923 the corresponding figures were $861,740,425 and $289,916,849. These figures do not include the assessed value of the property of telegraph companies, which was $789,730 in 1924 and $719,049 in 1923.

The $14,249,776 increase in assessed value compared to the $1,415,577 direct value decrease was due, the commission says, to the creation by the last legislature of a special tax division in which iron ore is not classed as personal property.

The assessments of wholesale merchants are slightly higher in the aggregate. In 1923 wholesalers were assessed $18,974,896 and in 1924 $20,183,952. Retailers' goods were assessed at $29,275,938 and in 1923 at $29,170,654.

Horses, cattle and hogs on farms showed reductions in number and value over those assessed in 1923, while sheep showed increase in both number and value.

Little Fall, Minn., Dec. 3.—Ursula Meyers, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Meyers of Pierz, was probably fatally injured late Monday when the Meyers automobile was struck by another car on the highway and turned over. The girl's nose was broken and she suffered a compound fracture of the jaw. Little hope save held out for her recovery. Mrs. Meyers, who was in the machine at the time of the accident, had several teeth knocked out and was badly but about the face.

ORGANIZING BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUBS

R. H. Giberson, Assistant State Club Leader, Visits City and County

SCHOOLS ENLISTED, TOO

Bread Baking, Cake Making, Garment Making Clubs Formed

R. H. Giberson, assistant state club leader, from the University of Minnesota, is spending several days in the city and county organizing boys' and girls' clubs.

The schools of Crosby-Ironton, Riverton, Pequot and Brainerd have been visited and clubs already started in the home economics departments, under the direction of the home economics leader.

Three clubs are being organized among school girls, bread baking, cake making and garment making clubs, all of which are a part of the boys' and girls' club program.

The girls who are members of these clubs have organized into regular associations with a president, vice president and secretary. The clubs are required to hold a minimum of six meetings aside from their regular school work.

In the bread baking contests, the girls are required to bake nine bakings of yeast bread and six bakings of quick bread. After the girl has completed this work, a county contest will be held, probably early in the spring, where each girl will bake a loaf of bread, which is judged by a representative of the extension division of the university.

The two girls declared winners in this county contest will be given a free trip to the Minnesota state fair, where she will participate in the state contest in bread baking. The cake baking and garment making clubs are handled along similar lines, the winners to compete in the state contest at the state fair.

In addition to this individual club work demonstration teams have been organized in the schools named above and these teams are given free trips to the state fair to participate in demonstrational contests. The winning team will go to Sioux City, Ia., to participate in an inter-state contest.

Last year five thousand boys and girls enrolled in the various clubs that were organized throughout the state, according to Mr. Giberson. This is the first year that the extension department of the university made a concerted effort to increase the club activities, and it is expected that in all no less than twenty thousand boys and girls will be organized in clubs this year.

Boys will be interested in dairy calf raising clubs, sheep clubs, poultry and garden clubs. Girls also, in the rural districts, are planning to compete with the boys in these clubs.

The clubs are organized for only one year and new ones are to be started annually. Mr. Giberson is highly pleased with the interest and enthusiasm that is being displayed in this movement throughout Crow Wing county.

BRITISH WATCH DEBT FUNDING WITH FRANCE

MAY RESENT GRANTING FRENCH MORE FAVORABLE TERMS THAN ENGLISH

BALDWIN GOVERNMENT MAY BE FORCED TO TAKE ACTION

(By United Press)
London, Dec. 3.—Great Britain is keeping a watchful eye upon debt funding negotiations between France and the United States with particular attention to reports that France seeks more favorable terms than those enjoyed by this country.

If such a concession were granted by the United States to France it would be represented by everyone here from the government bench to the pubs of Hackneywick as a personal affront.

The Baldwin government would be forced automatically to protest that Britain as a friendly nation was being discriminated against. Such a concession on the part of the United States would be a serious blow to Prime Minister Baldwin personally and it would in all probability force an immediate revision of the present policy regarding the French debt to England.

TRADE-AT-HOME IDEA

PROMINENT women of Duluth have taken up the "Trade-at-Home" idea. Saturday's Duluth Herald records what Duluth women are planning in order to build up their home town. It comes with particular significance.

Brainerd, inaugurating months ago a Community Sales Day fostered by enterprising merchants, has attracted much attention as a merchandising center. The Brainerd Dispatch essay contest based on "Why I Trade in Brainerd," has brought out an increasing current of letters lauding Brainerd as the place at which to buy your supplies.

Here is what the Duluth Herald says of the Duluth ladies plans to stimulate trading in their home city:

Now we are going to have a chance to see what kind of boosters for the old home town the women folks can be. The principal women's organizations of the city will soon have a joint committee at work making a house-to-house canvass of the city asking women to sacrifice the joy that comes from wearing a gown, a hat or a pair of shoes that come from a larger city for the satisfaction of buying at home and helping to build up Duluth. The Duluth Woman's club, the Twentieth Century club and the Business and Professional Women's club are working out a pledge card and the women who sign it will promise that so far as it is possible they will patronize home shops.

That little phrase "so far as possible" seems to be necessary to such a pledge, for as soon as the campaign to get women to shop in Duluth was announced the women connected with the movement began to receive telephone calls from women who wanted to explain why they could not shop in Duluth. There was the woman who wore a large size and insisted that there was nothing in the local stores from which to choose after you reached a size of 40, and adding, "when the Duluth shops decide to cater to matrons and not to flappers I will buy everything I wear here."

Another woman said she had just sent away for coating materials to make her child a coat after "wearing out my shoes and patience walking from store to store trying to find heavy coating materials." Perhaps the lady who complains of lack of large sizes wears a 52 and the woman looking for the material for her child's coat may be a very difficult person to please. But the justice or injustice of such complaints is just what the club women in charge of the shop-at-home campaign propose to investigate.

A joint committee from the Retail Dealers association will be asked to cooperate with them and such complaints will be looked into and the women will find out just how far the woman who buys in Chicago, Minneapolis or New York is justified in neglecting to build up her home town. The merchants should find this kind of cooperation helpful in many ways and doubtless will be very glad if women have justifiable reasons for passing up the local merchant and spending money that should help to build up Duluth in other cities. Here's hoping the women will show the same ability for organization in helping Duluth into the front rank of shopping cities that they showed in helping to keep President Coolidge in the White House.

FLYING TO NORTH POLE

WE consider that an airplane or dirigible flight to the North Pole is a foolhardy experiment and will not be crowned with success. The pole is not a flat surface, but probably full of jagged icebergs and hummocks.

An airplane would have no place to alight and would be smashed to pieces if forced to land. A dirigible would become so coated with ice that the weight would affect its buoyancy.

There are no filling stations in the Arctic, no grocery stores, no garages, no kindly line of American navy with spare parts and all manner of assistance. An air crew lost can never be found.

The American round-the-world fliers had their most hair-raising experiences in the colder regions. There are unknown air currents, temperature, ice, snow, open water stretches, blizzards, fog, frigid waste, etc., to combat.

Most of the North Pole flier enthusiasts are making all kinds of flight preparations but few of them are making any plans covering the subject of landing.

Building Formerly Occupied by Lammon Pharmacy Bought by Company

KREKELBERG &amp; PAGE PARTNERS

Former Continues Realty Business, Latter in Charge of Jewelry Store

Along Brainerd's business artery, Laurel street, a number of changes have been recorded, and the announcement of the opening of the E. A. Page company at 608 Laurel street is of much interest to the purchasing public.

The building was formerly occupied by the Lammon Pharmacy, but was bought by J. H. Krekelberg and E. A. Page, who form the Page Company. Mr. Krekelberg is well known in the city and vicinity, having built up a prosperous business in real estate and loans. His associate, E. A. Page, of Ladysmith, Wis., located here about two years ago, demonstrating his faith in Brainerd by the purchase of a home also other real estate.

Mr. Page is an accomplished musician and instructor, as well as an expert jeweler. Mrs. Delpha Lindstrom who appeared before the Brainerd Musical club, was a former pupil of his.

In connection with the jewelry and gift shop, Mr. Krekelberg will continue his real estate and loan business, a commodious office having been arranged in the rear of the building. Adjoining has been installed an up-to-the-minute work shop for the making, re-building and repairing of jewelry. Mr. Page is skilled in this work and is prepared to mount, re-build and set rings, pins, etc., a specialty being made of modernizing old fashioned jewelry and heirlooms. Expert watch repairing will also be done.

A splendid line of standard makes in watches and clocks is carried along and selected diamonds. Beautiful engagement and wedding rings here await the bridegroom. (It is said that Mr. Page can prophesy whether or not a marriage is going to be a happy one, just by the way the man buys the ring.)

Lovely strands of pearls, all sizes and lengths, lure one with their delicate beauty. Most of the standard lines are offered, though the E. A. Page company has been given the exclusive sale of Navarre pearls in the city. There are also attractive bracelets for slender wrists, and a well selected line of the ever popular wrist watches.

Toilet sets of dignified beauty, also manicure sets, many in leather cases which roll compactly, are tastefully displayed. In the leather section one finds week-end bags, soft collar cases, stunning men's belts, together with kodak albums, brief cases and writing cases. And speaking of writing, a line of select stationery has just been unpacked. Just as with everything else, new fashions in sizes and forms are found in writing paper.

How one thing leads to another! Here are guaranteed fountain pens and pencils; pens with a "man-size" grip, and an extra ink supply, also slender "lady's" pens for women and girls, and "big brother" pencils that have hand-fitting comfort.

In the gift shop are many delightful things that solve the gift problem happily. The Melba line of sachets and perfumed toilet articles is shown, also some exquisite hand-made handkerchiefs in sachet-lined boxes. These "kerchiefs" are made by Miss Runion, who supplies the Dayton store of Minneapolis, with its hand-made "kerchiefs." They are very dainty and have an old-time fragrance.

Bridge sets of hand painted metal table numerals, with matching pencils are interesting, and a novelty in the shape of a piano lamp is the "Lamp Ette," an electric lamp that hangs over the piano from a wide silk band, heavily weighted with an attractive ornament and shaded with a lovely chiffon shade of pastel hue. It is really beautiful!

Delicate china is attractively grouped on small tables. A bridge set for the serving of dainty refreshments after the game, consists of four cups and saucers in the "Peacock" lustre ware. Any number of other pieces may be added to elaborate the service, for there are plates, small dishes, salt and pepper sets, condiment sets and other articles in the same popular ware. And too, there are cunning little squatty English teapots of crackle ware, that make one's mouth fairly water for muffins and jam, sure to accompany them at afternoon tea.

Also, that we may "see ourselves as others see us," there are polychrome mirrors of convenient size and attractive design and coloring. And that a perfectly coiffured head might be reflected therein, electric marcel curling irons are suggestively offered.

Useful, too, are the electric heating pads, toaster stoves, percolators, etc. Vacuum bottles may be had, with nests of cups fitted within the cover, and food containers and "Therma" jugs, which hold such a generous supply of hot or cold liquids. Leather cases may be had for the vacuum bottles, if desired.

And the Christmas cards! Just stacks of them, and all so different. There is, indeed, "gladness in remembering the friends we used to know," as one card so pleasingly tells us, and it should be a simple matter to find cards appropriate for every friend here.

But after all, silver, both hollow ware and flat ware, seems the main stock in a store of this kind, and so it is here effectively displayed. In rich mahogany cases, well lighted, are quantities of silver bowls, platters, compotiers, baskets, vases, candle sticks, etc., of lasting beauty, together with flat ware in both sterling and the best of plated ware, and in the newest patterns.

If you are window-shopping tomorrow, you will find in the west window of this new store something that will surely "get a rise out of you," for dozens of alarm clocks of standard make are on sale for a limited time at a remarkably low price. Frankly, the E. A. Page company won't make any money on the sale of these clocks but they want you to become acquainted with them and their store, so they offer you at a reduced price that valuable, nay, almost priceless thing, Time!

A membership drive was launched to continue throughout this week and to close with the duck dinner.

Two teams were chosen from the membership, one headed by Earl O'Brien, the other by Past Commander Kirk Smith.

The losing team will be required to do kitchen police duty at the dinner Saturday evening as a penalty for being unable to win in the contest.

The local post voted to stage its annual ball again this year on New Year's eve. This event has been so successful in the past that it has become an expected custom and many are already looking forward to it with much anticipation.

The committee in charge of the benefit show made its report on the seat sale, which is progressing in very satisfactory shape.

This show will be given at the New Park theatre on Dec. 11th and 12th. The picture chosen by the Legion is "Manhattan," featuring Richard Dix in one of his most successful roles.

Following the business meeting the Legion enjoyed a social session including light refreshments and smokes.

The local post is looking forward to a most prosperous year and will give the new officers every assistance in making it the best year in the history of the organization.

LARGE TREASURY SURPLUS SEEN BY PRES. COOLIDGE

and $3,040,390 to complete Dam No. 2 at Muscle Shoals.

The amount set aside for soldiers' bonus fund in 1926 was only $50,000,000. The president said veterans' applications had so far been below the number expected and that if the applications increased unexpectedly a supplemental estimate could make up the amount required.

In pointing out the necessity of appropriating $109,000,000 for federal aid to states, Mr. Coolidge voiced his vigorous disapproval of state aid.

"I am convinced that the broadening of this field of activity is detrimental both to federal and state governments," he said.

"Efficiency of federal operations is impaired as their scope is unduly enlarged. Efficiency of state governments is impaired as they relinquish and turn over to the federal government responsibilities which are rightfully theirs.

I am opposed to any expansion of these subsidies. My conviction is they can be curtailed with benefit to both the federal and state governments."

Reclamation Urged

In connection with his recommendation of $9,777,257 for reclamation the president urged the enactment of the new reclamation bill now before congress.

Mr. Coolidge reported the public debt had been reduced $1,098,894,375 during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, bringing it down to a total of $21,250,812,989.

This reduction decreased the annual interest charge by approximately $45,000,000.

Interest paid during the fiscal year 1924 amounted to $940,000,000 and he estimated this interest charge would be $865,000,000 in 1925 and $830,000,000 in 1926 making a reduction in this item during the two years of $110,000,000.

Almost the sole new expenditure advocated by President Coolidge was the construction of new public buildings in the District of Columbia. He pointed out the present necessity of scattering government activities through scores of temporary buildings and rented quarters decreased governmental efficiency, was unnecessarily costly and involved serious fire hazards. He recommended a progressive building program with an annual expenditure of $10,000,000.

Agricultural Commission

The agricultural commission which he has appointed to study the problem of agricultural relief, he said, would report "what action should be taken to place agriculture on a basis of economic equality with other industries."

"I mention this commission here," the president said, "for the reason that I will shortly submit to congress an estimate of appropriations to meet the expenses of the commission."

"The $6,014,000 decrease in expenditures for the Shipping Board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation was secured by a general curtailment of overhead expenses, slight increase in rates and increase in operating efficiency," the president's message showed.

The large reduction in Veterans' Bureau expenditures was made up of decreases in the amount spent for salaries, compensation, medical and hospital service, vocational rehabilitation, and hospital construction against which decreases stood the new expenditure caused by the adjusted compensation act.

The great increase for the Department of Agriculture was caused primarily by the necessity of increasing the amount appropriated for rural post roads from $13,000,000 to $80,000,000.

Pension Decrease

The $26,583,567.69 decrease for the Department of the Interior was due principally to the decrease in the necessary expenditures for pensions.

The decrease in funds allotted the navy was brought about without limiting the activity of the combat sections of the fleet, without decreasing the enlisted or commissioned strength of the navy and without decreasing the number of ships in commission. A decrease of 1500 in the enlisted strength of the marine corps accounted for part of the saving and curtailment of administrative phases of naval work accounted for most of the rest.

Most of the reduction in the treasury department estimate arose from a $19,000,000 decrease in appropriation for income tax refunds. Other treasury operations involved a general slight increase in cost.

The decrease in the War Department estimate involved no decrease in the strength of the regular army but included slight decreases in the number of citizens' military camp trainees, the Militia Bureau and the Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

Used Kellogg's Bran 2 months— constipation gone after suffering 3 years

Three years of suffering with constipation. What happiness was his when Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, restored his health. But read his letter.

"Dear Sirs:

... this is what I think of your krumbled bran. I would not be without it for anything in the world. For three years I used all kinds of medicines for constipation, and only got temporary relief. I was advised by a doctor to use Kellogg's Bran, and since I began using it I don't have to take pills or anything else. I have used it two months, and my constipation has left me. I feel better, now than I have for three years."

(The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Kellogg's Bran brings results because it is ALL bran. You can't fight constipation with halfway measure—with brans which are only part bran. It takes ALL bran to be 100 per cent effective.

Because Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It acts naturally—just as nature acts. It stimulates the intestine and makes it function regularly. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will refund your money.

Kellogg's Bran has a delicious nut-like flavor. Quite different from ordinary, unpalatable brans. You will like it as a cereal, sprinkled on other cereals, cooked with hot cereals, or in the recipes given on every package.

Eat two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's Bran every day—in chronic cases, with every meal. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

GEORGE SWEET HEADS LEGION

Carl Sidney Hanson Post Holds Its Annual Election

A DUCK DINNER IS PLANNED

To be Given at George West Resort, Birchdale, Saturday Evening, December 6th

The Carl Sidney Hanson Post, American Legion, held its annual meeting on Monday evening at Elks hall. The following officers were elected for the coming year.

Commander—George Sweet.
First Vice Commander—Axel Anderson.
Second Vice Commander—Bert Orne.
Adjutant—C. C. Davis.
Finance Officer—A. C. Mraz.
Sergeant-At-Arms—Wm. T. Conklin.
Chaplain—Ray Hall.

The executive committee is composed of Joseph Mraz, Earl O'Brien, Arthur Hagberg, R. M. Johnson and Melvin Berg.

It was decided to stage a duck dinner at the George West resort, Birchdale, on North Long lake, next Saturday evening, Dec. 6th, at nine o'clock. All ex-service men who are not Legionnaires are invited to attend this dinner as guests of the local post. Michael Murray of St. Cloud has been secured to address the diners on subjects of interest to the Legion.

A membership drive was launched to continue throughout this week and to close with the duck dinner. Two teams were chosen from the membership, one headed by Earl O'Brien, the other by Past Commander Kirk Smith. The losing team will be required to do kitchen police duty at the dinner Saturday evening as a penalty for being unable to win in the contest.

The local post voted to stage its annual ball again this year on New Year's eve. This event has been so successful in the past that it has become an expected custom and many are already looking forward to it with much anticipation.

The committee in charge of the benefit show made its report on the seat sale, which is progressing in very satisfactory shape. This show will be given at the New Park theatre on Dec. 11th and 12th. The picture chosen by the Legion is "Manhattan," featuring Richard Dix in one of his most successful roles.

Following the business meeting the Legion enjoyed a social session including light refreshments and smokes. The local post is looking forward to a most prosperous year and will give the new officers every assistance in making it the best year in the history of the organization.

LARGE TREASURY SURPLUS SEEN BY PRES. COOLIDGE

and $3,040,390 to complete Dam No. 2 at Muscle Shoals.

The amount set aside for soldiers' bonus fund in 1924 was only $50,000,000. The president said veterans' applications had so far been below the number expected and that if the applications increased unexpectedly a supplemental estimate could make up the amount required.

In pointing out the necessity of appropriating $109,000,000 for federal aid to states, Mr. Coolidge voiced his vigorous disapproval of state aid.

"I am convinced that the broadening of this field of activity is detrimental both to federal and state governments," he said. "Efficiency of federal operations is impaired as their scope is unduly enlarged. Efficiency of state governments is impaired as they relinquish and turn over to the federal government responsibilities which are rightfully theirs. I am opposed to any expansion of these subsidies. My conviction is they can be curtailed with benefit to both the federal and state governments."

Reclamation Urged

In connection with his recommendation of $9,777,257 for reclamation the president urged the enactment of the new reclamation bill now before congress.

Mr. Coolidge reported the public debt had been reduced $1,098,894,375 during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, bringing it down to a total of $21,250,812,989. This reduction decreased the annual interest charge by approximately $45,000,000. Interest paid during the fiscal year 1924 amounted to $940,000,000 and he estimated this interest charge would be $865,000,000 in 1925 and $830,000,000 in 1926 making a reduction in this item during the two years of $110,000,000.

Almost the sole new expenditure advocated by President Coolidge was the construction of new public buildings in the District of Columbia. He pointed out the present necessity of scattering government activities through scores of temporary buildings and rented quarters decreased governmental efficiency, was unnecessarily costly and involved serious fire hazards. He recommended a progressive building program with an annual expenditure of $10,000,000.

Agricultural Commission

The agricultural commission which he has appointed to study the problem of agricultural relief, he said, would report "what action should be taken to place agriculture on a basis of economic equality with other industries."

"I mention this commission here," the president said, "for the reason that I will shortly submit to congress an estimate of appropriations to meet the expenses of the commission."

"The $6,014,000 decrease in expenditures for the Shipping Board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation was secured by a general curtailment of overhead expenses, slight increase in rates and increase in operating efficiency," the president's message showed.

The large reduction in Veterans' Bureau expenditures was made up of decreases in the amount spent for salaries, compensation, medical and hospital service, vocational rehabilitation, and hospital construction against which decreases stood the new expenditure caused by the adjusted compensation act.

The great increase for the Department of Agriculture was caused primarily by the necessity of increasing the amount appropriated for rural post roads from $13,000,000 to $80,000,000.

Pension Decrease

The $26,533,567.69 decrease for the Department of the Interior was due principally to the decrease in the necessary expenditures for pensions.

The decrease in funds allotted the navy was brought about without limiting the activity of the combat sections of the fleet, without decreasing the enlisted or commissioned strength of the navy and without decreasing the number of ships in commission. A decrease of 1500 in the enlisted strength of the marine corps accounted for part of the saving and curtailment of administrative phases of naval work accounted for most of the rest.

Most of the reduction in the treasury department estimate arose from a $19,000,000 decrease in appropriation for income tax refunds. Other treasury operations involved a general slight increase in cost.

The decrease in the War Department estimate involved no decrease in the strength of the regular army but included slight decreases in the number of citizens' military camp trainees, the Militia Bureau and the Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

FARMERS SIGN TO RAISE CUCUMBERS

Acreage With H. J. Heinz Co. Increasing Rapidly, Says County Agent Roth

OVER 500 ACRES LAST YEAR

Yield Last Season Was Not a Record One Because of Climate Difficulties

Farmers of Crow Wing county are signing up acreage with the H. J. Heinz Co. for growing cucumbers next season, and quite a number of acres have already been secured, according to County Agent E. G. Roth.

Over five hundred acres were planted to cucumbers last season under contract with the Heinz company, but the year was a very poor one for this as well as several other crops, and so a poor yield was the result generally, although in some localities the growers report a good income from the venture.

It was feared that farmers who did not make a success of cucumber raising last season, would hesitate in contracting again for next year, but such is not the case. Most of the farmers feel that with favorable conditions cucumbers can be grown most successfully in Crow Wing county and in this contention they have the support of the county agent.

The H. J. Heinz company has proven its faith in Brainerd and Crow Wing county by making quite an investment in buildings and equipment in the city. This includes ample storage tanks and facilities for receiving and handling the cucumbers. It is the belief of the company that the cucumber industry will increase and thrive in this section of Minnesota and that the farmers in this locality will prove their confidence in the crop by increasing their acreage.

The county agent is prepared to furnish contracts to all local farmers who wish to grow cucumbers during the coming season. In a letter to prospective growers, he states that it is his belief that an average of $150 per acre can be realized from this crop in an ordinary year, with even greater returns if weather conditions are more favorable.

The Heinz company in contracting with farmers, furnishes all of the seed and gives much valuable instruction throughout the season, taking the entire crop at a price which last year was much higher than other companies were paying for similar contracts in this territory.

budget it will be possible for a "moderate amount of tax reduction and of reform which Congress may use during the next fiscal year." This reform will revise the basis of taxation downward and remove the burden under which the personal initiative is now laboring.

The publicity feature of the present law is "unwise and harmful" and its continuation will be a detriment to public welfare and bring a decreased public revenue, the president added, recommending its repeal.

Railroads

Consolidation of railroads offers the one hope for the country's transportation problem, the president said. He recommended the authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission be broadened to permit the reception of volunteer proposals of roads for consolidation with the provision for governmental pressure to be applied on reluctant roads.

The president said he believes the railroad labor board should not be tinkered with, because it appears to be without adequate substitutes, adding that he believed that it should continue its activities until some other form of board may be devised.

READING CLERKS READ MESSAGE

Washington, Dec. 3.—Amid unaccustomed quiet and total absence of ceremony, the annual message of the President of the United States was read to the two houses of Congress for the first time, with a single exception, in 12 years.

The appeal of President Coolidge for further economy in government to permit of more tax reduction fell from the practiced lips of reading clerks of the senate and house in singsong manner, while senators and representatives sat quietly in their chairs.

There were no filled galleries to applaud each popular statement in the message, and there was no applause on the floor.

The usual hubbub and cheering which has greeted the appearance of a president before the house to deliver his report on the standing of the Union was noticeably absent.

Not since Woodrow Wilson was forced in 1920 to break his custom of reading his message in person because of being bedridden has there been any break in the annual pageant of the president reading his message with brilliant gatherings in the galleries lined and filled. The scene today seemed to be too much for the legislators.

When the hour-long reading had been completed there was the usual scramble for the smoking rooms behind each chamber and the business of the day proceeded as usual with an almost deserted chamber.

The president's message emphasized

the need of economy above all else. "The government can do more to remedy the economic ills of the people by a system of rigid economy in public expenditures that can be accomplished through any other action," he said, pointing out that rigid economy by the present session of Congress will pave the way during the next fiscal year to reduction of taxes.

Universality

UNIVERSAL telephone service must be universal in scope—it must reach anyone, anywhere. But it must be universal also in cost—it must be within the financial reach of everyone, everywhere.

Years of research have been required to provide the telephone instruments, switchboards, wire and supplementary apparatus which afford inter-communication between housewives, shopkeepers, farmers and millions of other American telephone users.

But these facilities do not in themselves make America's telephone service a universal service. Telephone engineers have spent years of additional study in order to build, maintain and operate this nation-wide system so economically that the cost of service may be kept at all times well below its value to the telephone user.

Upon the two fundamentals of extensiveness in scope and economy in cost the Bell System has built the most universal telephone service in the world.

There were no filled galleries to applaud each popular statement in the message, and there was no applause on the floor.

The usual hubbub and cheering which has greeted the appearance of a president before the house to deliver his report on the standing of the Union was noticeably absent.

Not since Woodrow Wilson was forced in 1920 to break his custom of reading his message in person because of being bedridden has there been any break in the annual pageant of the president reading his message with brilliant gatherings in the diplomatic and official boxes along the galleries lined and filled. The scene today seemed to be too much for the legislators.

When the hour-long reading had been completed there was the usual scramble for the smoking rooms behind each chamber and the business of the day proceeded as usual with an almost deserted chamber.

The president's message emphasized

the need of economy above all else. "The government can do more to remedy the economic ills of the people by a system of rigid economy in public expenditures that can be accomplished through any other action," he said, pointing out that rigid economy by the present session of Congress will pave the way during the next fiscal year to reduction of taxes.

Universality

UNIVERSAL telephone service must be universal in scope—it must reach anyone, anywhere. But it must be universal also in cost—it must be within the financial reach of everyone, everywhere.

Years of research have been required to provide the telephone instruments, switchboards, wire and supplementary apparatus which afford inter-communication between housewives, shopkeepers, farmers and millions of other American telephone users.

But these facilities do not in themselves make America's telephone service a universal service. Telephone engineers have spent years of additional study in order to build, maintain and operate this nation-wide system so economically that the cost of service may be kept at all times well below its value to the telephone user.

Upon the two fundamentals of extensive-ness in scope and economy in cost the Bell System has built the most universal telephone service in the world.

SCHOOL BOARD'S ACTION

George B. Falconer Elected Member to Succeed Mrs. A. H. Anderson, Resigned

The Brainerd public schools will close for the Christmas holidays on Friday, Dec. 19th, and will reopen again on Monday, Jan. 5th, according to action taken by the board of education at its regular meeting on Monday night.

A petition was received by the board carrying the signatures of about one hundred voters of the Fourth ward, asking that the board elect George B. Falconer as one of its members, to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. A. H. Anderson, resigned. On motion the board took a formal ballot for the election of a successor to Mrs. Anderson with the result that Mr. Falconer received six votes and Andrew Anderson one vote. Mr. Falconer was declared elected to the board to serve until May 1st, 1925.

A matter was brought up by the presidents of the various parent-teachers' associations, of the city, asking that the board give its permission to have good motion picture films announced in the schools. After a long and careful discussion of this matter, it was decided that the board should take no action at this time.

City Attorney D. H. Fullerton presented and read a copy of a draft of a measure to be presented to the state legislature for enactment, which is intended to clarify the present laws and enable independent school districts, of which Brainerd is one, to proceed more intelligently and facilitate the floating of bond issues. At present the old law provides that such matters must be voted upon at one poll in the presence of the board of education, and it hoped to change this so that the election may be held as any general election is conducted. No action was taken upon the draft of a law that was presented by the city attorney.

Chairman Elmer Dahl of the health and sanitation committee, reported that free vaccination has again been offered in the schools of the city and that already, in the first two days of this work, 380 children had been vaccinated. Mr. Dahl urged that all school children accept this free vaccination offer, laying stress on the importance of this preventative measure at this time.

The finance committee reported upon the receipt of the quarterly reports of the treasurer, showing the condition of the sinking fund and the general fund for the periods ending July 31st and October 31st, 1924, which have been audited and found correct. The report of the treasurer on the U. S. Veterans Bureau account will be audited and a report made at the next board meeting.

The chairman of the building committee reported that some additional plumbing should have been done at the time plans were made for sewerage and fixtures at the Riverside building, and that provision should have been made for plumbing and equipment in the opportunity room of that building. This matter was left with the building committee with power to act.

This committee also called attention to the fact that plaster on the ceiling of the assembly room at the high school is becoming loose, and that there is danger of its falling upon the heads of the children. It was suggested that this ceiling be examined carefully by a carpenter, and any loose plaster removed at once. The ceiling will be covered with steel in the spring.

The fuel committee recommended the purchase of one hundred cords of green wood and on motion the secretary was authorized to advertise for bids on this amount and the committee was given power to open the bids and award the contracts.

The teachers' committee reported having engaged a teacher to fill a vacancy in the eighth grade room at the Harrison building, a Miss Helen Fiergolla of Sauk Rapids. The action of the committee was ratified.

The secretary read a proclamation from President Calvin Coolidge on educational week, and as it was too late for the board to take any action thereon, it was moved that the proclamation be adopted as part of the records of the meeting and that it be given to the daily paper with a request for its publication.

Supt. W. C. Cobb presented his monthly report on the condition of the book room for the month of Noember, which was received and ordered placed on file. Supt. Cobb also made a report concerning the enrollment of the city school which will be published in the Dispatch.

On motion it was decided to act upon the various matters in this report separately. The vacancy made by the resignation of Miss Hintzie, grade teacher, was left with the teachers committee to fill, with power to act.

On motion the paragraph of the report relative to book shelves, was left with the building committee with power to act.

The matter of increasing the Veterans Bureau instructors was left with the officers of the board and the finance committee.

All members of the board were present at this meeting with the exception of Treasurer M. E. Morrison and F. M. Hagberg.

WASHINGTON LOOKS WEAKER IN 1925

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Dec. 3.—Walter Johnson's proposed retirement from the American League to become an owner and manager in the Pacific Coast League not only removes one of the finest personal assets in the major leagues but it may take with it Washington's chance to win another pennant.

Considering that Johnson is still a major league pitcher with enough head and arm to last several seasons more in fast company, the loss to the Washington club is of tremendous proportions.

Clarke Griffith and Buck Harris are now up against the problem of getting someone to take the veteran's place. When you look over the list of major league pitchers and see how many won twenty-three out of twenty-nine games last season, you will appreciate the impossibility of replacing Johnson.

Washington had more luck in winning the pennant last season than any other team in the major leagues. And any one who saw the two crazy bounds that the ball took over Lindstrom's head and gave the world's championship to the Senators in the last game of the world's series, will admit that luck certainly did not go against them in the most serious crisis of the baseball year.

It is too much to expect that Harris would have luck enough to develop one of his young pitchers to the size of Johnson's shoes or that he would be able to find another "Swede" in the minors. In addition to the actual field service that Washington loses by the retirement of a star pitcher, the loss penetrates more deeply because as a coach Johnson might have helped to develop his own successor when his period of service had reached its natural end.

The minor fields have been too thoroughly combed for Washington to find an Yde, the only really great young pitcher to be discovered in years. The situation as club owners find it, can be appreciated when clubs like the Philadelphia Athletics, who are not in the big dough class, have to pay $100,000 for an experiment like Lefty Groves, an International League product who comes up with the recommendation that he will strike out about fifteen batters in a game and walk about the same number.

Even before Johnson decided that it was time for him to get out of the major leagues while he was still a major leaguer, it was doubtful that the Washington club would be able to repeat as the American League champions. There were competent critics who insisted at the end of the season, with no desire to take the credit away from a game, inspired ball club, that the New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers were better ball clubs than the pennant winners. It is quite possible that the Yankees or the Tigers would have finished in first place if they had had the luck of Washington in escaping injuries.

BALL OPENER AT HIGH SCHOOL

The Independents beat the Y. M. C. A. 18 to 17, but had to play five minutes overtime to do it. At the end of the regular period of play the score was 15 to 15, and after a minute's rest the teams started in again with full steam. The game was the first of the season, and the crowd of over 150 people who watched the game were well pleased. The score saw-sawed back and forth from the very beginning, and there never was more than three points difference in the score. From a spectator's view, it was as good a game as could be desired, both teams playing at a fast and furious pace.

To pick out any one or two individuals as stars of the game would be difficult. For the Independents, Peterson was the big gun on offense, netting four baskets, while Thorkildson played a whale of a game on defense. Picking out the stars on the Y. M. C. A. team is harder, as the men played as a unit. Every man is deserving of mention. Outweighed by their opponents, and playing against a team that had already had one game's experience this fall, the Y players nevertheless played the Independents to a standstill, and drew the plaudits of the crowd because of their scrappiness and teamwork. Without detracting from the merits of the winners, the major credit must be handed the losing team.

Next week the Y. M. C. A. and the Rainbows play the second game of the series. Both teams are getting into the pink of condition, and the game promises to be a worthy follow-up to last night's game.

The score in the game last night is as follows:

Famous Boston Blackie Crook Story
at Lyceum

A Jack Boyle story, one of the famous Boston Blackie tales, widely read throughout the world, has been made into an entertaining photoplay which opened yesterday at the Lyceum theatre and is showing again tonight.

It is "Crooked Alley," and the story is a vivisection of the heart of a criminal leader, with the results strongly in favor of him. The heart is found to have considerable of the human element in it.

Boston Blackie, for the information of those who never read the Jack Boyle stories, is a master criminal leader of exceptional cleverness. In the story of "Crooked Alley" he comes face to face with the biggest problem of his life, the handling of a young lady. She is the daughter of Dan Tyrell, notorious criminal now in the penitentiary, and she needs protection.

STOP at Salt Lake City, one of the strangest and most beautiful cities in the world.

The Mormon Temple, the Tabernacle with its great organ; the Wasatch Mountain drives; unbelievably buoyant Great Salt Lake; the Bingham mine with its stupendous mountain of copper are alone worth the stopover—all Utah is a scenic wonderland.

WASHINGTON LOOKS WEAKER IN 1925

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Dec. 3.—Walter Johnson's proposed retirement from the American League to become an owner and manager in the Pacific Coast League not only removes one of the finest personal assets in the major leagues but it may take with it Washington's chance to win another pennant.

Considering that Johnson is still a major league pitcher with enough head and arm to last several seasons more in fast company, the loss to the Washington club is of tremendous proportions.

Clarke Griffith and Buck Harris are now up against the problem of getting someone to take the veteran's place. When you look over the list of major league pitchers and see how many won twenty-three out of twenty-nine games last season, you will appreciate the impossibility of replacing Johnson.

Washington had more luck in winning the pennant last season than any other team in the major leagues. And any one who saw the two crazy bounds that the ball took over Lindstrom's head and gave the world's championship to the Senators in the last game of the world's series, will admit that luck certainly did not go against them in the most serious crisis of the baseball year.

It is too much to expect that Harris would have luck enough to develop one of his young pitchers to the size of Johnson's shoes or that he would be able to find another "Swede" in the minors. In addition to the actual field service that Washington loses by the retirement of a star pitcher, the loss penetrates more deeply because as a coach Johnson might have helped to develop his own successor when his period of service had reached its natural end.

The minor fields have been too thoroughly combed for Washington to find an Yde, the only really great young pitcher to be discovered in years. The situation as club owners find it, can be appreciated when clubs like the Philadelphia Athletics, who are not in the big dough class, have to pay $100,000 for an experiment like Lefty Groves, an International League product who comes up with the recommendation that he will strike out about fifteen batters in a game and walk about the same number.

Even before Johnson decided that it was time for him to get out of the major leagues while he was still a major leaguer, it was doubtful that the Washington club would be able to repeat as the American League champions. There were competent critics who insisted at the end of the season, with no desire to take the credit away from a game, inspired ball club, that the New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers were better ball clubs than the pennant winners. It is quite possible that the Yankees or the Tigers would have finished in first place if they had had the luck of Washington in escaping injuries.

Such Board shall have the power to fill vacancies in its own number or among the officers of said company until the next election.

The officers of the company shall be a president, vice-president, manager, secretary and treasurer; any two of which except president and vice-president may be held by the same person.

The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be $20,000.00 divided into one hundred, fifty shares of common stock of $100.00 each, par value, and one hundred, fifty shares of preferred stock of $100.00 each, par value, and subscriptions to common stock shall be paid as called for by its Board of Directors and may be paid in cash, services or property at its fair value as may be determined by said Board, and the determination of the Board of Directors as to the fair value of the property or services taken in payment of capital stock shall be binding and conclusive, and subscriptions for preferred stock shall be only in cash and as called for by said Board. The holders of the preferred stock shall not be entitled to a vote at any stockholders' meeting but they may attend the same and shall receive in the same manner the same notices of meetings as the holders of common stock.

The holders of the preferred stock shall be entitled to receive when and as declared, from the surplus of net profits of the corporation, yearly dividends at the rate of eight per cent per annum, and no more, payable semi-annually on dates to be fixed by the by-laws. The dividend on the preferred stock shall be cumulative and shall be payable before any dividend on the common stock shall be paid or set apart; so that, if in any year dividends amounting to eight per cent shall not have been drawn, the deficiency shall be payable before any dividend shall be paid upon or set apart for the common stock.

Whenever all cumulative dividends on preferred stock for all previous years shall have been declared and shall have become payable, and the company shall have paid such cumulative dividends for previous years or shall have set aside from its surplus or net profits a sum sufficient to pay the same, the Board of Directors may declare dividends on the common stock, payable then or thereafter out of any remaining surplus or net profits.

In the event of any liquidation or dissolution or winding up of the corporation the holders of the preferred stock shall have paid such cumulative dividends for previous years or shall have set aside from its surplus or net profits a sum sufficient to pay the same, the Board of Directors may declare dividends on the common stock, payable then or thereafter out of any remaining surplus or net profits.

Any part of or all the issued preferred stock may be called in and paid for upon a majority vote of the Board of Directors by giving to the holders thereof thirty days' notice in writing, at $105.00 per share and any accumulated and accrued dividends.

6. The highest amount of indebtedness to which this corporation shall at any time be subject shall be $100,000.00.

Famous Boston Blackie Crook Story at Lyceum

A Jack Boyle story, one of the famous Boston Blackie tales, widely read throughout the world, has been made into an entertaining photoplay which opened yesterday at the Lyceum theatre and is showing again to night.

It is "Crooked Alley," and the story is a vivisection of the heart of a criminal leader, with the results strongly in favor of him. The heart is found to have considerable of the human element in it.

Boston Blackie, for the information of those who never read the Jack Boyle stories, is a master criminal leader of exceptional cleverness. In the story of "Crooked Alley" he comes face to face with the biggest problem of his life, the handling of a young lady. She is the daughter of Dan Tyrell, notorious criminal now in the penitentiary, and she needs protection.
